DOG NUISANCE TREATED ON

As indicated in a previous article written on this subject two of the greatest handicaps experienced by farmers who are interested in sheep industry at the present time are the dog nuisance and the difficulty of securing suitable sheep for foundation stock.

Altho these factors are perhaps the most potent at the present time, the competition offered in the past by the large western sheep ranges was perhaps responsible for more farmers going out of the sheep business than any other one cause. With the increase of population, however, these ranges have been divided up into smaller and smaller divisions, till they are no longer able to produce wool and mutton at prices below the possibility of profit for the Eastern farmer.

The dog nuisance, as it is commonly called is no doubt responsible for limiting the number of people who are interested in starting farm flocks. Witnessing, as they often do, the ravages upon a neighbor's flock they are unwilling to risk an investment in an industry that is apparently so hazardous even tho they realize that under favorable conditions it would pay excellent returns.

Two principal methods have been advocated for reducing the menace. The first of these is the dog tax. A law supporting this method prevails in our state at the present time and is enforced with varying degrees of exactness in different localities. In many counties of the state, the money obtained thru the enforcement of this law has not been sufficient to reimburse sheep owners to the full extent of the damage done to their flocks by dogs. Further trouble is experienced thru the difficulty of securing satisfactory appraisals. Furthermore, as all practical shepherds know, the payment of even full value for sheep slaughtered will not compensate the owner for the losses incurred by the ravages of dogs. In other words the injury done to flocks thru the untrifling caused by being worried with dogs is often a greater loss than the sheep that have been killed. The ultimate losses from sources of this nature cannot be estimated.

In order to protect the sheep industry some men have advocated the taxing of dogs out of existence. This plan does not seem feasible for many reasons. A more reasonable plan consists in subjecting them to the same restrictions which apply to other cases of livestock. Why should dogs be permitted to run at large when the fence law prohibits other farm owned animals from doing so? As indicated before the dog situation in Clearfield County has been greatly complicated by our large foreign population. Since the foreigner is no longer allowed to hunt, there seems to be little excuse for the large number of dogs we find in all our mining towns. Altho this condition perhaps complicates the protection of our flocks of sheep it does not render it impractical. In other sections of the state where similar conditions prevail our sheep are being protected by rigid enforcement of the dog law as it now exists. Altho we hear a great deal of the insufficiency of the present dog law, the present unsatisfactory condition is not due so much to lack of proper law as to lack of its enforcement.

If sheep raising is to be encouraged where it has been abandoned on account of dogs, it is essential that the frequency of attacks upon flocks be reduced to a minimum. The industry must be encouraged by affording protection to the flock, rather than by paying for sheep destroyed. Such protection can be afforded only by strictly and rigidly enforcing the dog laws enacted. Entire communities must work with the state for the enforcement of the law. Such community effort could be fostered by the state by giving more publicity to a clear and concise interpretation of the dog law. Ignorance on the part of individuals themselves is often accountable for the small amount of attention given this important matter. As soon as this great handicap is

MAIN BOUT WITH OLD SATAN

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 10.—A long time ago, when boxers were getting no more money for the labors than they were entitled to, there was a budding young lightweight hanging around Omaha, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. He grew into a welterweight, but he persisted in just hanging around.

This youth never set the world afire with his accomplishments, but it was said he could take more punches and come back quicker than any man alive. It also was said of him that a fairer, cleaner boxer never stepped under the ropes of a ring. He fought Clarence English, a boxer of just the opposite type, and Clarence admitted he had taken a big job on his hands in punishing the youngster. English, at that time was one of the best lightweights in the game—and one of the trickiest.

Time went on and the youth gradually quit fighting. He couldn't whip any one who amounted to anything. Then one day he listened to a street evangelist and a new fight was on. Rev. Kid Wedge started from there and he has been knocking out the devil ever since.

Recently there came the news from Rhinelander Wis., that Kid Wedge had applied for and been granted a license to conduct boxing bouts in a church in which he was pastor. Rev. Wedge himself, stated that he was going to teach the young boys in his Sunday school how to box. Spectators and boxers will be members of the church and the Sunday school.

Rev. Wedge has organized an amateur athletic class in connection with his Sunday school and takes personal charge of boxing classes.

removed there will be a large number of farmers desiring to enter the sheep business. If this should be the case, farmers in this county would be obliged to look largely to other sections of the state for their breeding stock. In spite of all the propaganda advocating the raising of more sheep in Pennsylvania last year several thousand ewes were shipped from Washington and Greene counties into Ohio, instead of being retained in the state. These sheep are generally preferable for our locality to those imported from the west. Plans for procuring them in carload lots might be worked out by cooperative community effort. This method is in line with the practices in many of the livestock centers of the west. The inexperienced farmer will usually find it preferable to limit the number purchased to 25 or less. The Philadelphia Wool & Textile association, as well as the organized agencies for Agricultural improvement will be glad to give assistance along these lines.

JUVENILE COURT
DISCLOSES BAD
CONDITIONSeveral Curwensville Boys are
Paroled After Telling Alleg-

SAY 15 YEAR OLDS GOT BEER

A disgraceful condition of morals was disclosed in court before Judge Bell this morning when four Curwensville boys, Paul Milliron, Lamoyne Ferguson, Frank Lewis and Herman Reed, ranging in age from ten to fifteen years, were brought before the bar of justice by Chief of Police Clark, of Curwensville, following a reign of petty thieving extending over several months.

According to the testimony given by the boys they had been making a business of chicken stealing and other offenses and had been a general nuisance in their community where they frequented a livery stable and rode around with a milk wagon driver, who came in for a round of severe criticism from Judge Bell for his share in or knowledge of the boys' shortcomings.

The boys testified to the theft of many chickens from Curwensville hen coops, that of Supt. Blake of the henery being a favorite place for visiting and Mr. Blake with Rev. E. D. Parkhill were in court as witnesses.

When the chickens were stolen the boys said they would take them and sell them to a foreign woman, Mrs. Mary Franz, "Big Mary" they called her. They said that "Big Mary" gave them beer on many occasions and also sold them cigarettes any time they had the money. "Big Mary" runs a store on the Grampian road just beyond the borough limits.

Another hang out for the youthful offenders was the store of Mrs. Barbado, located in "Sandy Desert" near Curwensville, and according to the testimony of Lewis and Reed Mrs. Barbado sold them beer, as much as a gallon at a time, many times the past year.

Following the arrest and confession of the boys before Squire Dale last evening warrants were sworn out for Mrs. Franz, charging her with receiving stolen goods, selling cigarettes to minors, while Mrs. Barbado was arrested charged with violation of the liquor law. Both women gave bail for their appearance at May court.

After hearing the testimony, on recommendation of the district attorney, Judge Bell decided to give the boys a chance to make good and paroled them in the custody of Chief of Police Clark and Rev. Parkhill and further ordered that Mr. Milliron and Mr. Farwell, fathers of two of the boys, who were also present in court, be directed to keep tabs on them and see that the order of the court as to their attendance at school and getting home at night were carried out.

If the testimony of these boys, mere children, is to be believed, there has certainly been an unwholesome condition existing in our neighboring village and it is high time it be broken up.

PROGRESS STORY NOT SOLD

Our readers will remember the story exclusively published in The Progress last October concerning the heroism and humanitarian spirit shown by Commodore William C. Robbins, who lives along side the B. R. & P. railway tracks just beyond Moose creek. On the night of October 24, 1916, Commodore Robbins heard a racket on the railroad and on investigation found Alex Wallace and his wife tenant entangled on the bridge crossing the creek. About the time he made the discovery a New York Central coal train appeared around the curve a few hundred feet distant and only the prompt action of Commodore Robbins in flagging the train prevented a serious wreck.

The matter was called to the attention of the district attorney concerning the diffident railroad company as evidence that Commodore Robbins' heroism was rewarded. Nathan Lobel, the general life claim agent of the B. R. & P. Ry. Co. arrived in town this morning and handing up Commodore Robbins' personal bill with the railroad meter and the check for $1,000 reward of therein.

The Silver Anniversary Linen and White Goods Sale Ends With the Closing of the Store at 9 O'clock Monday Night

By placing fresh lots of muslin and linen linen in the sale, we are making the last minutes just as profitable for the thrifty woman as were the first.

Some of the items are pretty well sold out but the fresh additions will, on account of their thinness, make up for those that you have missed.

The amount of this dainty white lingerie sold during the first days of the sale far surpassed our last year's figures. Unless present indications fail the closing hours of the ANNIVERSARY SALE are going to be more interesting than any other event of its kind this store has ever seen.

We would suggest early shopping on Monday.

How Thin People Obtain A Plump Strong Robust Body

"Before I took tonline people used to call me 'skinny,' but now my name is changed. My whole body is stout, I have gained 15 lbs. and am gaining fast. I look like a new man." Edward E. P. Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., who had just finished the tonline treatment.

Would you, too, like to quickly and quickly put from 10 to 20 lbs. of good solid, "stay there" flesh, fat and muscular tissue between your skin and bones?

Don't say it can't be done. Try it. Let us send you free a 50c package of tonline and prove what it can do for you.

Cut out the bacon and some of the fat from your diet today.

STRING BEANS

Why can't a bean be a bean and let it go at that?

Most beans are beans except string beans. But was the string bean satisfied to be just a bean? No, it had to grow a string and carry it with itself.

And why? Did it have the practical idea in mind when it did it? Has any string bean ever furnished the string? No. It just did it because it could.

String beans can be used after their back is broken so that it's no most fit to eat. But even a dish of them is a chance at a cheap restaurant or when your wife is in a hurry and see what it goes to you. All I can tell you, that's what it'll do.

However, we have already put ourselves to blame for the string bean. Washington warned us against entangling alliances.

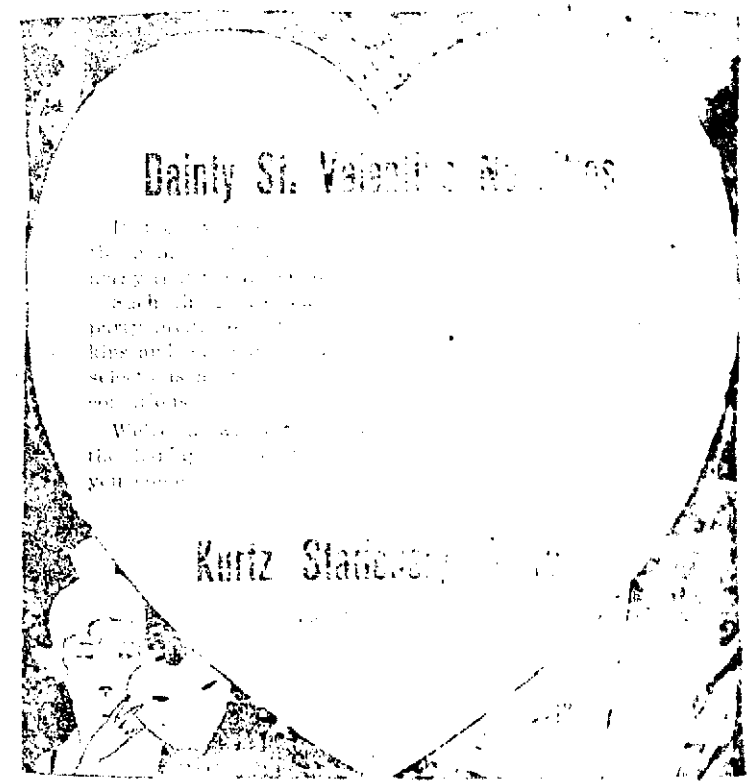

Luther Burbank could tell us from the string bean.

Why doesn't he do it?

Tennis club, George J. Church of Tenafly, N. J.; William M. Johnston of San Francisco; John H. H. of California and Harold A. H. of Oregon, Elizabeth, N. J., will compete.

Overland

Undoubtedly the Industry's Crowning Achievement

From your point of view this announcement is most important.

For herein we set forth the achievement toward which this company has aimed for the last eight years.

This achievement in a word is the completion of our gigantic organization to a point where we can make and market a complete line of automobiles under one head.

This means tremendous economies—much greater than ever before.

This means the elimination of all waste, all lost motion and much greater factory efficiency.

This means an even higher grade of cars at much more attractive prices.

All of which means a substantial saving for you on the next car you buy.

For now and for the first time in the history of the automobile business we as one single organization offer the public a full and complete line of automobiles.

This concentration—this greater efficiency—this more effective means of pulling together is going to set a new standard of low priced high-grade automobile values.

For we operate on the basis of—

- one executive organization
- one factory management
- one purchasing unit
- one sales expense

—one group of dealers to plan, produce and sell all Overland, Willys and Willys-Knight models.

Buying power is concentrated. Costs are distributed over all these cars. The savings are enormous.

As a result we are producing cars of exceptional quality—and marketing them at unusually low prices.

Every car is built to a rigid standard of performance, comfort and appearance.

The new models are listed in this announcement. They include Overland models from the snappy comfortable $665 Light Four to the beautiful Light Six Sedan at $1585.

They include also the big, handsome Willys-Knights from the Four at $1105, to the super efficient Eight at $1950.

These new models establish price records, value records and performance records, all of which we believe will prove to the public conclusively that the vast economies of vast production are the key note and manufacturing secret of the greatest value for the least amount of money.

DOG NUISANCE TREATED ON

As indicated in a previous article written on this subject two of the greatest handicaps experienced by farmers who are interested in sheep industry at the present time are the dog nuisance and the difficulty of securing suitable sheep for foundation stock.

Altho these factors are perhaps the most potent at the present time, the competition offered in the past by the large western sheep ranges was perhaps responsible for more farmers going out of the sheep business than any other one cause. With the increase of population, however, these ranges have been divided up into smaller and smaller divisions, till they are no longer able to produce wool and mutton at prices below the possibility of profit for the Eastern farmer.

The dog nuisance, as it is commonly called is no doubt responsible for limiting the number of people who are interested in starting farm flocks. Witnessing, as they often do, the ravages upon a neighbor's flock they are unwilling to risk an investment in an industry that is apparently so hazardous even tho they realize that under favorable conditions it would pay excellent returns.

Two principal methods have been advocated for reducing the menace. The first of these is the dog tax. A law supporting this method prevails in our state at the present time and is enforced with varying degrees of exactness in different localities. In many counties of the state, the money obtained thru the enforcement of this law has not been sufficient to reimburse sheep owners to the full extent of the damage done to their flocks by dogs. Further trouble is experienced thru the difficulty of securing satisfactory appraisals. Furthermore, as all practical shepherds know, the payment of even full value for sheep slaughtered will not compensate the owner for the losses incurred by the ravages of dogs. In other words the injury done to flocks thru the untrifling caused by being worried with dogs is often a greater loss than the sheep that have been killed. The ultimate losses from sources of this nature cannot be estimated.

In order to protect the sheep industry some men have advocated the taxing of dogs out of existence. This plan does not seem feasible for many reasons. A more reasonable plan consists in subjecting them to the same restrictions which apply to other cases of livestock. Why should dogs be permitted to run at large when the fence law prohibits other farm owned animals from doing so? As indicated before the dog situation in Clearfield County has been greatly complicated by our large foreign population. Since the foreigner is no longer allowed to hunt, there seems to be little excuse for the large number of dogs we find in all our mining towns. Altho this condition perhaps complicates the protection of our flocks of sheep it does not render it impractical. In other sections of the state where similar conditions prevail our sheep are being protected by rigid enforcement of the dog law as it now exists. Altho we hear a great deal of the insufficiency of the present dog law, the present unsatisfactory condition is not due so much to lack of proper law as to lack of its enforcement.

If sheep raising is to be encouraged where it has been abandoned on account of dogs, it is essential that the frequency of attacks upon flocks be reduced to a minimum. The industry must be encouraged by affording protection to the flock, rather than by paying for sheep destroyed. Such protection can be afforded only by strictly and rigidly enforcing the dog laws enacted. Entire communities must work with the state for the enforcement of the law. Such community effort could be fostered by the state by giving more publicity to a clear and concise interpretation of the dog law. Ignorance on the part of individuals themselves is often accountable for the small amount of attention given this important matter. As soon as this great handicap is

BOXER PREACHER

ENCOUNTERSRev. Kid Wedge of Rhinelander,
Wisconsin, Teaching Boxing
To Sunday School Class

MAIN BOUT WITH OLD SATAN

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 10.—A long time ago, when boxers were getting no more money for the labors than they were entitled to, there was a budding young lightweight hanging around Omaha, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. He grew into a welterweight, but he persisted in just hanging around.

This youth never set the world afire with his accomplishments, but it was said he could take more punches and come back quicker than any man alive. It also was said of him that a fairer, cleaner boxer never stepped under the ropes of a ring. He fought Clarence English, a boxer of just the opposite type, and Clarence admitted he had taken a big job on his hands in punishing the youngster. English, at that time was one of the best lightweights in the game—and one of the trickiest.

Time went on and the youth gradually quit fighting. He couldn't whip any one who amounted to anything. Then one day he listened to a street evangelist and a new fight was on. Rev. Kid Wedge started from there and he has been knocking out the devil ever since.

Recently there came the news from Rhinelander Wis., that Kid Wedge had applied for and been granted a license to conduct boxing bouts in a church in which he was pastor. Rev. Wedge himself, stated that he was going to teach the young boys in his Sunday school how to box. Spectators and boxers will be members of the church and the Sunday school.

Rev. Wedge has organized an amateur athletic class in connection with his Sunday school and takes personal charge of boxing classes.

removed there will be a large number of farmers desiring to enter the sheep business. If this should be the case, farmers in this county would be obliged to look largely to other sections of the state for their breeding stock. In spite of all the propaganda advocating the raising of more sheep in Pennsylvania last year several thousand ewes were shipped from Washington and Greene counties into Ohio, instead of being retained in the state. These sheep are generally preferable for our locality to those imported from the west. Plans for procuring them in carload lots might be worked out by cooperative community effort. This method is in line with the practices in many of the livestock centers of the west. The inexperienced farmer will usually find it preferable to limit the number purchased to 25 or less. The Philadelphia Wool & Textile association, as well as the organized agencies for Agricultural improvement will be glad to give assistance along these lines.

JUVENILE COURT
DISCLOSES BAD
CONDITIONSeveral Curwensville Boys are
Paroled After Telling Alleging Much Law Breaking

SAY 15 YEAR OLDS GOT BEER

A disgraceful condition of morals was disclosed in court before Judge Bell this morning when four Curwensville boys, Paul Milliron, Lamoyne Ferguson, Frank Lewis and Herman Reed, ranging in age from ten to fifteen years, were brought before the bar of justice by Chief of Police Clark, of Curwensville, following a reign of petty thieving extending over several months.

According to the testimony given by the boys they had been making a business of chicken stealing and other offenses and had been a general nuisance in their community where they frequented a livery stable and rode around with a milk wagon driver, who came in for a round of severe criticism from Judge Bell for his share in or knowledge of the boys' shortcomings.

The boys testified to the theft of many chickens from Curwensville hen coops, that of Supt. Blake of the henery being a favorite place for visiting and Mr. Blake with Rev. E. D. Parkhill were in court as witnesses.

When the chickens were stolen the boys said they would take them and sell them to a foreign woman, Mrs. Mary Franz, "Big Mary" they called her. They said that "Big Mary" gave them beer on many occasions and also sold them cigarettes any time they had the money. "Big Mary" runs a store on the Grampian road just beyond the borough limits.

Another hang out for the youthful offenders was the store of Mrs. Barbado, located in "Sandy Desert" near Curwensville, and according to the testimony of Lewis and Reed Mrs. Barbado sold them beer, as much as a gallon at a time, many times the past year.

Following the arrest and confession of the boys before Squire Dale last evening warrants were sworn out for Mrs. Franz, charging her with receiving stolen goods, selling cigarettes to minors, while Mrs. Barbado was arrested charged with violation of the liquor law. Both women gave bail for their appearance at May court.

After hearing the testimony, on recommendation of the district attorney, Judge Bell decided to give the boys a chance to make good and paroled them in the custody of Chief of Police Clark and Rev. Parkhill and further ordered that Mr. Milliron and Mr. Farwell, fathers of two of the boys, who were also present in court, be directed to keep tabs on them and see that the order of the court as to their attendance at school and getting home at night were carried out.

If the testimony of these boys, mere children, is to be believed, there has certainly been an unwholesome condition existing in our neighboring village and it is high time it be broken up.

PROGRESS STORY NOT SOLD

Our readers will remember the story exclusively published in The Progress last October concerning the heroism and humanitarian spirit shown by Charles William C. Robbins, who lives along side the B. R. & P. railway tracks just beyond Moose creek. On the night of October 24, 1916, Comrade Robbins heard a racket on the railroad and on investigation found Alex Wallace and his wife tenant entangled on the bridge crossing the creek. About the time he made the discovery a New York Central coal train appeared around the curve a few hundred feet distant and only the prompt action of Comrade Robbins in flagging the train prevented a serious wreck.

The matter was called to the attention of the district railroad commission through this publication and as evidence that Charles W. C. Robbins' heroism was rewarded, Nathan Lobel, the general life claim agent of the B. R. & P. Ry. Co. arrived in town this morning and handing up Comrade Robbins' personal bill with the railroad meter and the check for $100.00 as a reward for his heroism.

I enclose herewith draft for $100.00 in favor of William Robbins, also a voucher. This draft represents donation of our part in expression of appreciation of his act in saving a N. Y. THE FIRST NATIONAL STORE.

THE FIRST NATIONAL STORE, 100 N. 10th St., Clearfield, Pa., is the largest and most complete store in the county. It carries a full line of goods, and is the place to go for everything you need.

By placing fresh lots of muslin and linen fabric in the sale, we are making the last minutes just as profitable for the thrifty woman as were the first.

Some of the items are pretty well sold out but the fresh additions will, on account of their thinness, make up for those that you have missed.

The amount of this dainty white lingerie sold during the first days of the sale far surpassed our last year's figures. Unless present indications fail the closing hours of the ANNIVERSARY SALE are going to be more interesting than any other event of its kind this store has ever seen.

We would suggest early shopping on Monday.

STRING BEANS

Why can't a bean be a bean and let it go at that?

Most beans are beans except string beans. But was the string bean satisfied to be just a bean? No, it had to grow a string and carry it with itself.

And why? Did it have the practical idea in mind when it did it? Has any string bean ever furnished the string? No. It just did it because it could.

String beans can be used after their back is broken so that it's no most fit to eat. But even a dish of them is a chance at a cheap restaurant or when your wife is in a hurry and see what it does to you. All I can tell you, that's what it'll do.

However, we have already put ourselves to blame for the string bean. Washington warned us against entangling alliances.

Luther Burbank said, follow us from the string bean.

Why doesn't he do it?

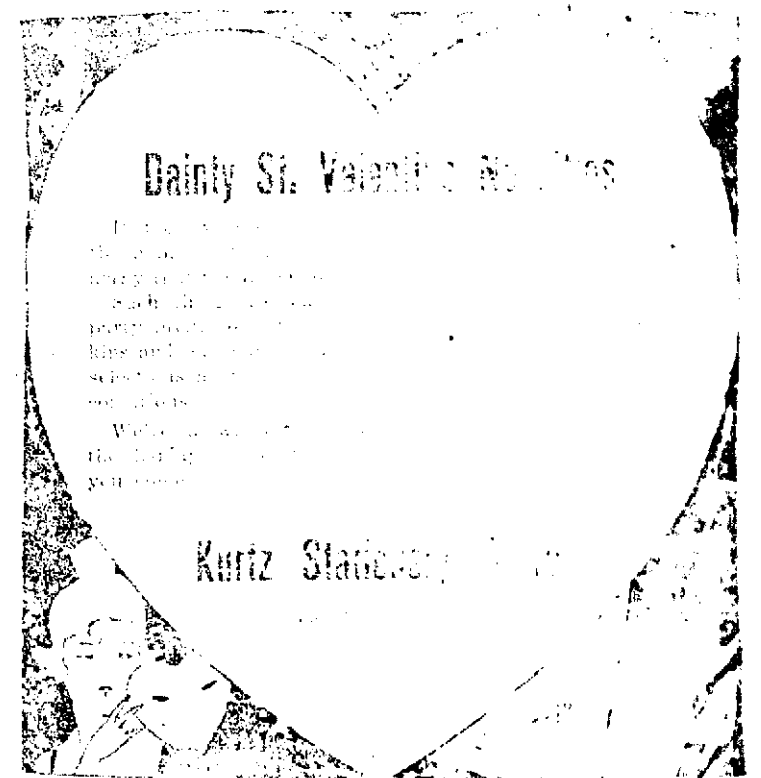

Tennis club, George J. Church of Tenafly, N. J.; William M. Johnston of San Francisco; John H. L. of California and Harold A. H. of Oregon, Elizabeth, N. J., will compete.

Undoubtedly the Industry's Crowning Achievement

From your point of view this announcement is most important.

For herein we set forth the achievement toward which this company has aimed for the last eight years.

This achievement in a word is the completion of our gigantic organization to a point where we can make and market a complete line of automobiles under one head.

This means tremendous economies—much greater than ever before.

This means the elimination of all waste, all lost motion and much greater factory efficiency.

This means an even higher grade of cars at much more attractive prices.

All of which means a substantial saving for you on the next car you buy.

For now and for the first time in the history of the automobile business we as one single organization offer the public a full and complete line of automobiles.

This concentration—this greater efficiency—this more effective means of pulling together is going to set a new standard of low priced high-grade automobile values.

For we operate on the basis of—

- one executive organization
- one factory management
- one purchasing unit
- one sales expense

—one group of dealers to plan, produce and sell all Overland, Willys and Willys-Knight models.

Buying power is concentrated. Costs are distributed over all these cars. The savings are enormous.

As a result we are producing cars of exceptional quality—and marketing them at unusually low prices.

Every car is built to a rigid standard of performance, comfort and appearance.

The new models are listed in this announcement. They include Overland models from the snappy comfortable $665 Light Four to the beautiful Light Six Sedan at $1585.

They include also the big, handsome Willys-Knights from the Four at $1105, to the super efficient Eight at $1950.

These new models establish price records, value records and performance records, all of which we believe will prove to the public conclusively that the vast economies of vast production are the key note and manufacturing secret of the greatest value for the least amount of money.
